MATINEE WEDNESDAY

Max Gordon
presents
THE WOMEN

A NEW COMEDY BY
CLARE BOOTH
CAST OF 40 • ALL WOMEN

IMMENSELY FUNNY!

"The lines flash and startle. The girls let down their hair, tell all and keep men auditors giggling. It is vastly amusing."

—Burns Mantle, N. Y. Daily News

"Immensely amusing. Glittering, smart, fascinating. 'The Women' will be the pet of the two major sexes."

—John Anderson, N. Y. Evening Journal

"An arresting and rewarding evening. Uncommonly well acted by a large and expert cast." —John Mason Brown, N. Y. Post

GLITTERING!

"One of the most fascinating plays of the season. It should delight and disturb both sexes. In Max Gordon's pet show, they all, together with the author, win blue ribbons."

—Richard Lockridge, N. Y. Sun

SMART!

"You must see this play if only to be stunned and come out and recover under the stars. A provocative and startling play, marked by superb acting."

—Douglas Gilbert, N. Y. World-Telegram

"Tremendously funny. Had the first nighters rocking their ribs via robust laughter."

—Robert Coleman, N. Y. Mirror

FASCINATING!

"It will delight the feminine spectators by convincing them that they are witty and it will flatter the men by proclaiming that the girls do little else save talk about them. It will make a million dollars for its author and producer."

—Richard Watts, Jr., N. Y. Herald-Trib.

"Undeniably exciting, inescapably clever. It is sharp, quick, funny, effective. In short, it works its trick mighty well."

—Gilbert Gabriel, N. Y. American
